Program Description

ABOUT THE COLLEGE
Barrett, The Honors College at ASU is widely visited and emulated by other colleges and universities in the U.S. and abroad as the model for honors education in the United States. Barrett stands alone in dedicated resources, size and complexity with a presence on four ASU campuses; a multimillion dollar endowment used to support honors students and their projects; and dedicated deans, faculty and staff that include seven administrators, 42 Faculty Fellows and 62 staff within the college, and more than 1,800 faculty members who teach honors students university-wide each year. Barrett represents a powerful and unique combination of the special care and attention an honors student should expect from an excellent residential liberal arts college, with the vast program choices and research mentoring resources of a vibrant Research I university. This honors community is known nationally for its number of National Merit, National Hispanic and Flinn scholars, and nationally ranked numbers of recipients of Fulbright, Truman, Goldwater, Udall and Marshall Fellowships.

In 2009, Barrett opened the nation's first comprehensive 4-year residential honors college within a top-tier Research I university. The $140 million, 9-acre honors campus in Tempe includes administrative, faculty and staff offices, as well as classrooms and residence halls for 1,700 honors students. It uniquely features a signature dining hall refectory and café, several courtyards, student lounges, activity rooms, computer labs and a community center. The 4-year residential campus in Tempe expanded to the 18-acre Vista Del Sol site across the street in 2013 and now accommodates 1,500 additional beds for upper-division honors students, the honors admissions and recruiting operations, classrooms, and community space, offices and amenities that include a theater, pool, writing center, fitness, recreation and events facilities. Honors students on the Polytechnic, West and Downtown campuses also enjoy the benefits of living in new and growing honors communities that offer academic and co-curricular experiences.
Honors faculty and staff are committed solely to enabling the best education possible for intellectually-engaged students from Arizona, America and the world.

STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES
ASU's size, number of majors, student organizations and student support services is an advantage and provides important opportunities for Honors students to engage in meaningful ways. With the largest residential college profile across all four ASU campuses, Barrett dramatically contributes to the student life of the entire university. Barrett students demonstrate leadership in the classroom, in research labs, in mentoring and tutoring other students, and in securing leadership roles in ASASU student government, Changemaker Central, Greek Life, and more than 700 student organizations, chapters and societies. Barrett students positively impact ASU and local, national and global communities through internships, service, travel and other professional development opportunities within Honors and across ASU. Barrett offers a full range of student-driven service, wellness, arts, cultural, social, entrepreneurial, professional development and sustainability programming. Many Honors students present their work at the end of each semester at the Ira A. Fulton Polytechnic Innovation Showcase, which is an impressive exhibition featuring many of these innovative student projects and interdisciplinary collaborations. The Barrett Honors faculty and staff at the Polytechnic campus also host unique programming such as the Fall Freshman Retreat in Prescott, Human Event Tribunals, and the annual Dinner Down the Orchard, which is a signature event for Barrett Honors students on all campuses.
