Conflict Resolution, Minor

ASCNRMIN

Handling conflict productively is a great asset in our time, and this minor will enable you to understand and address conflict in healthier ways.

Description

The minor program in conflict resolution introduces students to theories and practices that will enable them to understand, address and transform conflict while dealing with challenges both at the micro and the macro levels in professional and cross-cultural contexts and individual and collective interactions.

Having engaged with subject areas in communication, conflict and peace studies, students will be ready to pursue further education or careers in business, mediation, advocacy, education, government and law.

Current ASU undergraduate students may pursue a minor and have it recognized on their ASU transcript at graduation. Students interested in pursuing a minor should consult their academic advisor to declare the minor and to ensure that an appropriate set of courses is taken. Minor requirements appear on the degree audit once the minor is added. Certain major and minor combinations may be deemed inappropriate by the college or department of either the major program or the minor. Courses taken for the minor may not count toward both the major and the minor. Students should contact their academic advisor for more information.
