ASCOMMBS

The communication program at ASU's West campus utilizes the nationally-recognized CommLabASU to train and prepare you for careers in areas such as social media and technology, global communication, public relations and strategic communications, risk and crisis communication, communication training and mentoring, sport communication, and communication philosophy.

Program Description

The communication program offered at ASU’s West campus prepares students to do far more than give a speech or two in front of their peers. It provides an extensive understanding of the practical, theoretical and professional nuances of today's field of communication, designed to equip students with the skills needed to convey complex ideas clearly and effectively through both the spoken and written word.

In utilizing the nationally recognized CommLabASU, this program trains and prepares students for in-depth study into what contributes to and detracts from effective human communication, recognizing that the art of communication is far more nuanced than simple speaking and writing prowess.

Students may pursue one or more focus areas that are designed to amplify their academic and professional preparation in specific contexts, including: public relations, risk and strategic communication; media, culture and social technology; communication training and mentoring; dialogue, relationships and communities; and sport communication.
