English, BA

ASENGBA

The English program at ASU's West campus uses literary works to examine the issues of class, gender, race and ethnicity in America and beyond. Students not only enhance their writing skills, but gain a stronger ability to think critically and speak clearly, preparing them for careers in teaching, law, business, marketing and politics, among others.

Program Description

Students in the BA in English learn how to write clearly and effectively and to think critically and construct well-supported arguments.

The program stresses the formal aesthetic qualities of texts and the issues of class, gender, race and ethnicity relating to literary representation. Students gain a familiarity with standard literary-critical terminology and an awareness of various theoretical approaches to literary study. Students also become aware of uses of the English language in the U.S. and around the world.

The program provides students with a balanced overview of major literature in the English language and an awareness of the role of literary discourse in broader social and historical contexts.

This major is eligible for the Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE) program at the following location: West campus. Students from Western states who select this major and campus may be eligible for reduced nonresident tuition at a rate of 150 percent of Arizona resident tuition plus all applicable fees. See more information and eligibility requirements on the Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE) program.
