Global Opportunities

Global Experience
Study abroad experiences open up new doors for corporate accounting majors. Students gain valuable skills employers want, such as communication, interpersonal skills and flexibility, and understanding international accounting methods helps students become more well-rounded and competitive in the accounting field. Students benefit from thinking about study abroad early, allowing opportunities to take summer courses in places like Costa Rica or studying a full semester in Europe to gain a global perspective on business applications worldwide.

The W. P. Carey School of Business recommends the following study abroad programs for students majoring in business with a concentration in corporate accounting: https://mystudyabroad.asu.edu/students/major/wp-carey/corporate-accounting.

Career Opportunities

Career opportunities are generally substantive and in high demand. Senior management roles for corporate accountants include chief financial officer positions. Currently, more than half the CFOs at larger corporations have formal accounting training. Projecting into the future, the longer term trend is for CFOs to have extensive corporate accounting training, particularly since CFOs at public U.S. corporations personally sign the financial statements.

Typical early- to mid-career positions held by corporate accountants include controllers, treasurers and vice presidents in areas like financial planning, divisional controlling, cost accounting directing, senior financial analysis and senior accounting. These positions typically report to the CFO.

Career examples include but are not limited to those shown in the following list. Advanced degrees or certifications may be required for academic or clinical positions.
