Astrophysics and Astronomy, MS

The astrophysics and astronomy master's degree program prepares you for discovering new planets, exploring cosmology, building space-flight hardware and instruments for telescopes and satellites. You can become part of NASA- and NSF-funded space missions, seeking to answer significant questions about how our universe began and how it continues to evolve.

Program Description

Degree Awarded: MS Astrophysics and Astronomy

The MS program provides fundamental graduate training in astrophysics and astronomy. It prepares candidates for further graduate study or for careers in related fields such as scientific staff positions at government laboratories, teaching at the community college level and technical positions in industry.
