Get on the map! The PhD program in geography offers a unique research environment that places your focus on location --- the heart of geography, urban planning, climatology and GIS. Here, you can engage with distinguished faculty to tackle the pressing environmental and societal challenges facing the world today.

Program Description

Degree Awarded: PHD Geography

The PhD program in geography provides specialized academic and professional training in geographical sciences to enable graduates to secure a sound background for further research and teaching and for immediate employment.

Students in the program have the ability to build a path of knowledge that reflects their personal interests within the realms of geography. Students work alongside esteemed faculty on research in one of four broad interdisciplinary themes: computational spatial science; earth systems and climate science; place, identities and culture; or sustainability science and studies.

Admission Requirements

Applicants must fulfill the requirements of both the Graduate College and The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Applicants are eligible to apply to the program if they have earned a bachelor's or master's degree, in any field, from a regionally accredited institution.

Applicants must have a minimum of a 3.00 cumulative GPA (scale is 4.00 = "A") in the last 60 hours of their first bachelor's degree program, or applicants must have a minimum of a 3.00 cumulative GPA (scale is 4.00 = "A") in an applicable master's degree program.

All applicants must submit:

1. graduate admission application and application fee
2. official transcripts
3. personal statement
4. resume
5. GRE scores
6. three letters of recommendation
7. proof of English proficiency

Additional Application Information
An applicant whose native language is not English (regardless of current residency) must provide proof of English proficiency.

Incoming students must demonstrate or attain competence in cartography and quantitative methods and complete other basic coursework that will enable them to pursue graduate studies in their area of specialization.

The personal statement must address four items:

1. What specialty in geography does the applicant wish to pursue, and why?
2. What aspects of the applicant's education (a description is needed) will enable the student to pursue this specialty?
3. What additional training does the applicant believe can be obtained at Arizona State University to realize the applicant's educational and career goals?
4. Applicants should provide any other information they feel should be considered in their application for admission (e.g., research experience or information which might be drawn from the applicant's resume).

Letters of recommendation must be from three faculty members who can attest to the applicant's academic achievements.
