Program Description

Sociology is the study of social life, social change and the social causes and consequences of human behavior. The BS program in sociology offers courses on contemporary social issues that range from crime to population trends. Sociology courses also explore social institutions such as family, education, religion and the workplace. Students develop proficiency in written communication, computer skills, statistical analysis and research methodology.

Students currently enrolled in the Bachelor of Science in sociology may not pursue a concurrent degree with the BS in family and human development due to the high level of overlap in curriculum. Students should speak with their academic advisor for any further questions.
