Transborder Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies (Media and Expressive Culture), BA

LATCLMBA

How is the Chicana/o and Latina/o population portrayed in popular culture, and why is it important to learn about cultural differences? Learn from faculty who specialize in literature, queer studies, Chicana feminist theory, communication and media studies, digital humanities and media production to gain a deeper understanding of cultural representations.

Program Description

The BA program in transborder Chicana/o and Latina/o studies focuses on the political, cultural, economic, sociological, historical, psychological and artistic experiences of Mexican-origin and Latina/o populations in the United States and the U.S.-Mexico transborder region. Students explore the complexities of the Chicana/o and Latina/o experience on the U.S.-Mexico border and beyond, with implications for other border communities around the world.

In the media and expressive culture concentration, students focus their study on the cultures of Latina/o communities. Students learn about the cultural diversity of Chicana/o, Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Dominican, Central American and other Latina/o populations in the United States and their contributions to the arts by analyzing:

- film and the media
- history
- literature (novels, short stories, poetry)
- performance
- visual art
