Communication, BA

LSCOMBA

Learn to clearly convey thoughts and ideas in written or spoken form. Even as the world changes, the art of human communication is constant and is vital to the growth and development of a global society.

Program Description

The BA program in communication in the College of Integrative Sciences and Arts explores how communication processes create, maintain and transform identities, relationships, workplaces and communities.

Through the study and critique of human communication, students gain the knowledge, creativity and understanding to facilitate healthy relationships and workplaces, civil and secure communities and constructive intercultural interaction. With a dual emphasis on urban communication and technology, it allows for a concerted focus on the rapidly changing modalities of communication occurring today.

Students must complete a minimum of 12 upper-division credit hours of COM courses offered by the College of Integrative Sciences and Arts.

Global Opportunities

Global Experience

Studying abroad offers a unique and exciting opportunity for students to gain intercultural experience through tailored, international programs of study. Students improve language and cross-cultural skills for effective communication. They also develop critical teamwork and problem-solving skills and expand their knowledge of the liberal arts through lenses of different cultures. Opportunities to study abroad exist across the globe, including in Australia, the United Kingdom and a semester at sea. https://mystudyabroad.asu.edu/
