Legal Studies, MLS

Law school is not just for lawyers. In just one year master legal principles and navigate the legal landscape in careers that intersect with the law. Full- and part-time options with flexible with fall and spring starts are available for students in both campus and digital immersion formats.

Program Description

Degree Awarded: MLS Legal Studies

For people who want to understand legal principles and apply them to their fields of interest without actually becoming a lawyer, the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law offers the MLS degree program. The Master of Legal Studies is a 30 credit hour graduate program for those interested in learning about the law or whose work intersects with the law. The Master of Legal Studies program is flexible and is offered in the fall and spring, full-time and part-time as well as on-ground and online https://law.asu.edu/degree-programs/mls/online.

Students can focus their program on popular areas of study (https://law.asu.edu/degree-programs/programs) or pursue the Master of Legal Studies concurrently with several graduate business degrees from the W. P. Carey School of Business, a Master of Sustainable Solutions from the School of Sustainability, or a Master of Mass Communication from the Walter Cronkite School of Journalism and Mass Communication. The Master of Legal Studies program is also offered with a concentration in patent practice.

To learn more, applicants should attend one of many offered webinars: https://law.asu.edu/content/asu-college-law-informational-webinar.
