Program Description

Degree Awarded: MPA Public Administration (Emergency Management)

The graduate concentration in emergency management as part of the MPA degree program provides motivated students with the skills and knowledge to manage and assume positions of leadership within the field of emergency management. More specifically, an all-hazards and all-threats orientation provides the student with a generalist perspective which is critically important for disaster managers of today and tomorrow. In addition, this program examines community resilience from a systems perspective, embracing governments, private, nonprofit and civic roles. The program also provides an understanding of how community members respond to the need to prepare for, endure and recover from disasters and provides the ability to utilize multiple communication methods to help community members before, during and after these emergencies.

Admission Requirements

Applicants must fulfill the requirements of both the Graduate College and the College of Public Service and Community Solutions.

Applicants are eligible to apply to the program if they have earned a bachelor's or master's degree from a regionally accredited institution in a related field. Related fields include political science, criminology, planning, business, urban and metropolitan studies, as well as other social science degrees. Although most students for the graduate concentration would likely come from the aforementioned degree fields, the department may accept applicants with undergraduate degrees from all educational backgrounds provided the minimum requirements for the degree program are met.

Applicants must have a minimum of a 3.00 cumulative GPA (scale is 4.00 = "A") in the last 60 hours of a student's first bachelor's degree program, or applicants must have a minimum of a 3.00 cumulative GPA (scale is 4.00 = "A") in an applicable master's degree program.

All applicants must submit:

1. graduate admission application and application fee
2. official transcripts
3. GRE scores
4. statement of career and educational goals
5. three letters of recommendation (two of which should be academic recommendations)
6. proof of English proficiency

Additional Application Information
An applicant whose native language is not English (regardless of current residency) must submit proof of English proficiency.

The following entry-level competencies are needed for admission the program: Students should have an undergraduate social statistics course such as PAF 301 Applied Statistics and undergraduate coursework in American national government such as POS 310 American National Government. Students may also satisfy the American national government competency by taking the College-Level Examination Program in American Government and receiving a passing score.

GRE verbal, quantitative and analytical scores will be used as one of the indicators to see how competitive an applicant is within the applicant pool.

Students should see the program website for application deadlines.
