Global Management (Global Business), MGM

This concentration within Thunderbird's No. 1-ranked Master of Global Management degree (Times Higher Education/The Wall Street Journal) produces leaders with mastery of global business management principles and practices as well as a deep understanding of the economic, political and social factors driving change and how decisions affect global markets.

Program Description

Degree Awarded: MGM Global Management (Global Business)
This STEM-designated MGM program with a concentration in global business delivers cross-cultural, hands-on training in the nuances of international management, preparing students with the perfect balance of practical and people skills to inspire, influence and drive global success.*

The concentration in global business allows students to specialize in the various pathways in global business such as global finance, global marketing, supply chain or management consulting. By developing students' skills such as cross-cultural competency, social and emotional intelligence as well as creative and adaptive thinking, this program helps sharpen their global mindset, along with leadership and management skills, preparing them for a boundless career as a global manager or leader in their chosen field.

Global business effectiveness requires knowledge and understanding of global dynamics, the ability to simplify and explain complex ideas, and a nuanced, cosmopolitan view of the world. These three dimensions form the basis of global intellectual capital. In the Master of Global Management degree program, this capital is built inside and outside the classroom through a cutting-edge international business curriculum reinforced with field-based projects that integrate international business experience, illustrating social proof of global intellectual capital mastery. The concentration in global business prepares students who aspire to become global managers or leaders in their chosen fields.
Thunderbird School of Global Management has produced unique leaders for more than 70 years, leaders in every sector capable of tackling the world's greatest challenges. The alumni network comprises 45,000 graduates and 170 chapters around the globe.

*This program meets special F-1 international student status requirements. This means that international students who graduate with the global business concentration qualify for a 24-month extension to their Optional Practical Training in the United States beyond the 12 months already provided to international students in non-STEM degrees.

Applicants who do not meet either requirement are reviewed by the application committee and may receive an exception on a case-by-case basis.

Global Opportunities

Global Experience
Students in Thunderbird's Master of Global Management program have unique opportunities to apply and hone their learning in international settings. Experiential learning exposes students to actual problems faced by leaders of multinational businesses and governmental or nonprofit organizations that operate on an international level.

Working with Thunderbird professors, their fellow students, alumni and corporate partners, students master and apply global management principles and concepts to meet real business challenges through special courses, labs and projects. Thunderbird offers a wide variety of experiential learning engagements, giving students the ability to solve real-world challenges by collaborating with the school's corporate partners around the world. Some options include:

Global Field Seminars
This two- or three-week seminar exposes students to the dynamics and nuances of doing business in a focused region of the world. Teams of students go on company site visits and attend high-level meetings and presentations with business, government and cultural leaders as well as with Thunderbird alumni. Students gain invaluable hands-on experience while expanding their global business skills so they can become major assets to any organization they join after graduating.

Thunderbird Global Challenge Laboratories
This is a client-facing, project-based course built on a six- to seven-week immersion assignment in a key emerging or advanced market. Projects take students to destinations all over the world. They are tailored to the business needs of the client and challenge students to provide sophisticated data and market analysis, strategy recommendations and plans for sustained growth that are both practical and effective.
