Educating Multilingual Learners (Graduate Certificate)

ASU’s Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College is one of the top-ranked graduate colleges of education in the U.S. In this program, you learn to become a collaborative leader who brings people and ideas together to enrich the lives of learners, amplify the impact of educators and improve the performance of education systems.

Program Description

Degree Awarded: Certificate Educating Multilingual Learners (Certificate)
The graduate certificate program in educating multilingual learners prepares students to educate bilingual and multilingual learners in a variety of settings, including preK-12 schools, colleges, universities and organizations serving linguistically diverse populations. Students in this program gain skills and knowledge in language and literacy development, pedagogy, culture and context, and in advocacy for multilingual learners.

While the program is an excellent choice for teachers seeking to improve their preparation for bilingual and multilingual learners, it does not lead to teacher certification. There is no requirement that students entering the program hold a teaching certificate or seek to obtain one.

This certificate program is not designed to address specific requirements of any single state endorsement but may address many components for state endorsements, depending on state requirements.

At a Glance

- College/School: Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College
- Location: online
Degree Requirements

15 credit hours

Required Core (9 credit hours)
BLE 534 Language, Policy, and Power: Past and Present (3)
BLE 536 Education for Social Transformation (3)
BLE 537 Linguistics for Educators (3)

Electives (6 credit hours)

Additional Curriculum Information
Students should see the academic unit for approved list of elective courses.

There is no culminating experience required for the certificate program.

Admission Requirements

Applicants must fulfill the requirements of both the Graduate College and the Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College.

Applicants are eligible to apply to the program if they have earned a bachelor's or master's degree, preferably in education or related field, from a regionally accredited institution.

Applicants must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.00 (scale is 4.00 = "A") in the last 60 hours of their first bachelor's degree program, or applicants must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.00 (scale is 4.00 = "A") in an applicable master's degree program.

All applicants must submit:

1. graduate admission application and application fee
2. official transcripts
3. personal statement describing the applicant's interests and reason for seeking this degree
4. resume
5. proof of English proficiency

Additional Application Information
An applicant whose native language is not English must provide proof of English proficiency regardless of current residency.

GRE scores are not required for admission.

For disclosure information about this U.S. Department of Education Gainful Employment program, students should see https://catalog.asu.edu/files/disclosures/TEESLGRCT/Gedt.pdf.
Attend Online

ASU offers this program in an online format with multiple enrollment sessions throughout the year. Applicants may view the program description and request more information here.

Career Opportunities

As populations continue to diversify, there is high demand for professionals with expertise in supporting the unique educational needs of multilingual learners. Program graduates are well suited for positions within education or organizations serving international or immigrant populations.

Career examples include:

- education manager
- educational consultant
- instructor
- multilingual or bilingual education specialist
- professional development manager
- school administrator

Contact Information

Educational Leadership & Innovation, Division | ED 118
GraduateEducation@asu.edu | 602-543-6358